THE CLEARFIELD PROGRESS, CLEARFIELD, PA. TUESDAY EVENING AUGUST 5, 1919

NUMBER 22

PROGRAM COMMITTEE ON
PRICE REDUCTION ARE
READY TO MAKE REPORTBELIEVED THAT IT WILL INCLUDE PRICE
REDUCTION ON WHEAT AND REDUC-
TION OF THE CURRENCY

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS ON FOODS

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 5.—"Certain definite suggestions" for reducing the high cost of living have been prepared for submission to the president, Attorney General Palmer, spokesmen of the special government committee appointed for the purpose of framing a program, announced today after a conference in which eleven cabinet members and government officials took part. These officials heard the recommendations of Federal Trade Commissioner Colby, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Leffingwell and Director General Hines who were appointed to investigate the matter and make recommendations. It is said that the suggestions will include a reduction in the price of wheat, a reduction in currency, the licensing of dealers in necessities and a revival of the food administration which was organized during the war. Palmer would give no inkling of what the report would contain but that it will recommend vigorous prosecution of profiteers was indicated by the presence of C. W. Ames, Special Assistant to Attorney General Palmer in charge of the anti trust prosecutions and the administration of the food and fuel departments.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 5.—Danger of a coal famine added itself today to the complications in the railroad and high cost of living problems confronting the government while the Senate Agricultural committee met to take up the food problem and the Interstate Commerce committee considered the railroad wage problem. Senators Hitchcock and Pomerene injected the coal problem into the consideration of the various departments of government. Hitchcock declared that the fuel problem was acute and that it was so closely in league with food and the cost of living that it was not to be overlooked. He pointed out that with a shortage of coal the price of that necessity would rise and with it there would come higher prices of other necessities to produce which coal at a reasonable price was necessary. Pomerene declared that coal producers of Ohio were crippled now from a shortage of cars and that they could double their output with an ample supply of cars. Both senators declared that a maximum of relief would be obtained by a solution of the fuel question for the winter and that it behooved the government to tackle this problem first and get it out of the way before autumn. Pomerene declared that there was no shortage of mine labor in Ohio and that a full supply of cars would guarantee the miners of that state a prosperous year and contribute to the stability of industry in that state and in those sections which depend on Ohio for their coal supply. He said that if the car situation was not remedied before fall, business would stagnate, mills would shut down and there would be a great discontent among the laborers in Ohio. Hitchcock declared that coal was but one of the problems to be solved and made a plea for the nationalization of both the coal and railway industry.

"I think the present trend is toward nationalization of railroads and when that comes there will be nationalization of the other industries and coal will be the first to follow in the wake of the railways," said Senator Cummins, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee. "I do not anticipate any such action in the immediate future" added Cummins.

When representatives of the Big Four call on the president tomorrow they will present their program for an equalization of wages and living costs and their program will be identical with that outlined in this column only a few days ago at which time it was stated that it would include nationalization of the railroads with a directorate divided equally among the people, the employees and the operating officials and a bond issue to pay for the roads.

The President is devoting all his time to the wage and living problem it was stated at the White House today. Conferences with Senators on the league of nations and peace treaty have been deferred again until such times as some plan of action for lowering prices is evolved. Wilson will confer with Attorney General Palmer after the general cabinet meeting today.

PERSHING'S VIEWS ON TRAINING BILL SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, August 5.—Congress is desirous of hearing General Pershing on the universal military training bill and the War Department program calling for an army of a half million men before acting on it. There are indications that the War Department program calling for an army of a half million men before acting on it. There are indications that the War Department bill will meet with many objections in both houses of congress.

REVERENCE IN CHURCH
WORSHIP

By JOHN F. STRAYER

Pastor of U. B. Church, Woodland, Pa.
One of the things which impresses me most profoundly is the apparent lack of solemnity or reverence in the average Protestant churchgoer. Nothing is so annoying to the Christian minister as to look over the assembled worshippers and see so much or levity and utter thoughtlessness of the place and object of the gathering. Some time since I read an article in the Ladies Home Journal giving instructions to theatergoers. They were admonished not to talk during the presentation of the play, nor to eat candy, etc., nor to do ought that might cause their neighbor to be inconvenienced in the evening's entertainment. And above all to be on time. These would be good suggestions to the churchgoer.

Other important instructions to churchgoers are given. The following inscription is over the entrance to Hawarden Chapel, where Mr. Gladstone worshipped: "On your way to the Lord's house, be thoughtful, be silent, or say but little, and that little good. Speak not of other men's faults; think of your own, for you are going to ask forgiveness. Never stay outside; go in at once; time spent in side should be precious. Bow down very humbly and pray. Spend the time that remains in prayer. Remember the awful presence into which you have come. Do not look about to discover who are coming in, or to any other cause. It matters not to you what others are doing; attend to yourself. Fasten your thoughts firmly on the holy service; do not miss one word. This needs a severe struggle; you have no time for vain thoughts. The blessed Spirit will strengthen you if you persevere."

The sacred writer said, "The Lord is in his holy temple; let all the earth keep silent before him." No matter how we may differ in form or non-essentials, all Christians should cultivate the spirit of reverence for the things of God and the church God's dwelling upon earth.

USED RESERVOIR FOR
WASHTUB

While two local young men, who had hiked out to the mountains Sunday afternoon, were enjoying the view from the breast of the Moose Creek water dam they were shocked almost beyond repair when three husky, corrugated maidens marched out of the brush and proceeded to use the reservoir for a wash tub, a la la women of France and Belgium.

One girl washed out a pair of long socks, another made her undershirt white as snow while the third proceeded to get the dirt out of an article of apparel which these young men from their lack of experience were unable to name, although from the architecture of said article they did not put "them" on over their head.

The water was quite low in the reservoir and the ladies were forced to go out near the centre of the dam to find a pool big enough in which to set up their laundry and the unlooked-for visitors were able to get a good view of the washerwomen and handed in the names for publication, but considering the act more thoughtless than less dignified dirty we refrain from publishing them at this time.

After seeing the laundry party the young men skirted the road along the reservoir and found five or six other fairies bathing their dimpled toes in the limpid water Clearfield people are drinking.

OSCEOLA

Lawshe Dorr, of Clearfield, and John Dempsey, of Osceola, have purchased the store of Baird, Rickenbaugh & Co., at Osceola, and will take possession of same on August 21st.

The Baird and Rickenbaugh store is one of the largest mercantile establishments in that section of Clearfield county. Lawshe Dorr is one of Clearfield's finest young men and a good business man, while Mr. Dempsey has been engaged in the mercantile business at Osceola for several years.

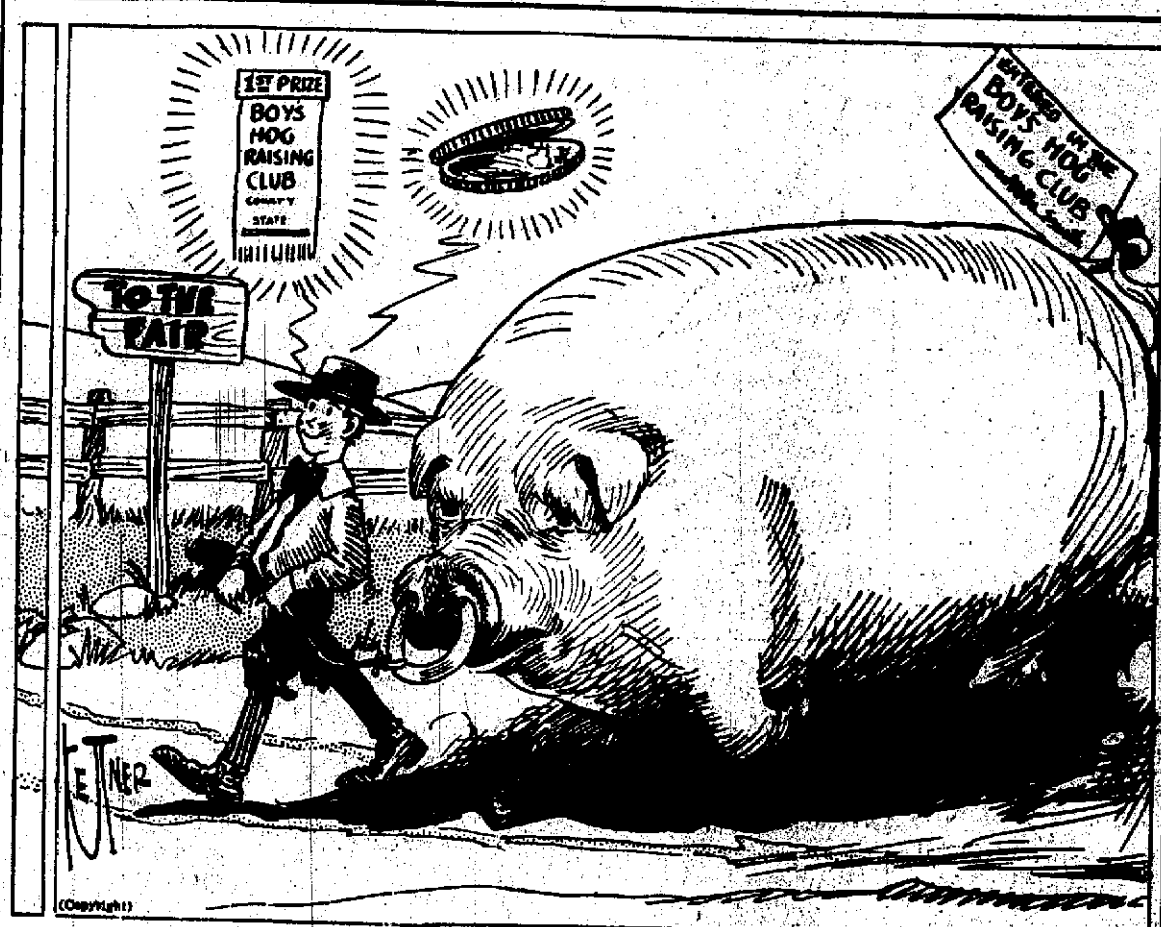

The Progress joins their host of friends in wishing the new firm unbounded success in their venture.

ENROUTE FOR HOME

J. L. Shillenn received a cablegram Monday which announced that his son, Sergeant Leo Shillenn, with a headquarters company of a Second Division regiment, had sailed from Brest on Sunday.

For a short distance a lion or a tiger can outrun a man, and can equal the speed of a fast horse, but they lose their wind at the end of half a mile at the most.

FORTY-NINTH ANNUAL
FRENCHVILLE PICNIC

Just forty-eight years ago last month the first picnic was held at Frenchville. The Clearfield band, then the crack musical organization of this section, was the feature of the picnic. The picnic was held again on July 23d, 1872 and again the band was on hand to make sweetest music and thereby add to the enjoyment of the hundreds who had gathered at Frenchville for the day. Visitors made the trip on foot, on horseback, by horse and buggy and several ox teams hauled their creaking wagons loaded with merry-makers to the picnic ground.

This picnic has since been an annual affair at Frenchville and such excellent weather pickers are the French that never in all the intervening years, almost half a century, has there been rain sufficient to interfere with the picnic. A remarkable record.

This year, the 49th annual picnic will be held in the beautiful grove near the church and arrangements are being made to take care of the biggest crowd in the history of this popular picnic. The roads are in pretty fair shape down that way now and as the ox team has been replaced by the ever-present and damned, but popular Henry Ford, automobile parties will make up the bulk of the assemblage and large numbers of Clearfield people will be on hand as usual.

CHASE—HALL

Lloyd Chase and Miss Bertha Hall, both of Winburne, were united in marriage Monday afternoon by Rev. W. W. Hartman at Trinity Methodist parsonage.

The young people will reside at Winburne where Mr. Chase is employed as an electrician.

CROWN PRINCE OF
ENGLAND ON WAY
TO AMERICA TODAY

PORTSMOUTH, ENG., Aug. 5.—

The Renown, carrying the Prince of Wales to America, left the harbor today to the accompaniment of a royal salute by the guns of the warships and the forts. The ships were manned, the bands played the national anthem and enormous crowds on shore cheered as the Renown passed out.

Along the sea front off Spithead a number of warships awaited the Renown and led her out to sea. While no attempt will be made to establish a speed record the crew of the Renown, from her captain down to the stokers, is bent upon carrying the Prince across the Atlantic at a good clip. The vessel's machinery when she sailed was in perfect condition and her bunkers were filled with the choicest coal.

According to present plans the trip of His Royal Highness will occupy at least three months, so that it will probably be mid-November before he returns to England. The immediate objective is St. John's, Nfld., which port will be reached, if all goes well, on the morning of Aug. 12. From Newfoundland he will proceed to St. John's, N. B., arriving there Aug. 15.

Visits to Halifax, Charlottetown and other places in the Maritime Provinces will follow and then will come a trip up the St. Lawrence to Quebec. The Prince will leave the Renown at Quebec and then proceed overland to Toronto. Ottawa will next be visited, where the Prince will lay the foundation stone of the new tower for the Parliament Buildings. The subsequent itinerary will include a transcontinental journey that will extend as far as Vancouver and Victoria, with stops at numerous points in western Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. There will also be a journey across the border, with visits to New York, Washington and other cities of the United States.

Paving Improvements

COUNCILMAN HOPFER RESIGNS

Nine members answered present to roll call when President Fletcher called last night's meeting of Council to order in the borough building.

Burgess Chase was present and reported 11 arrests during July, but one of which was for drunkenness. He collected $5 in fines and $13 in licenses for the month.

Street Commissioner Graham reported progress of Highways sewer and of general street work since last meeting.

Borough Solicitor Urey presented a check for $488.90 being collections on Spruce and Martin street curb and gutter since last report.

Borough Engineer Hess reported on South Second street repaving, stating that inlets had been placed and gutters built from the Point to Ogden avenue.

No also reported progress of Highways sewer on block between Twelfth and Eleventh streets, where the cut is over twelve feet. He stated that curb had been changed at corner of Turnpike and West Market streets and condition improved. Sidewalk grades were also given on Dorcy street and complained that the crossing at Eighth street had been raised six inches higher than planned.

The Engineer also presented map of original plat of West Clearfield borough which showed 50 foot street at Nichols and West Front. In his report on Third street paving the Engineer stated that Division Engineer Malley of the Pennsylvania was in Clearfield and went over the situation. He said the present arrangement most satisfactory to the railroad company, but asked that council make a statement of just what they wished in the matter and it would then be given the consideration it deserved.

A petition signed by some 300 citizens and taxpayers asking that the street be improved was read to Council after which it was decided to ask the railroad company to assist in making a 26-foot paved roadway on Third street from Walnut to Highways avenue.

The health officer was directed to serve notice for the removal of outside water closet on Clearfield street. The matter of filling of lot streets to keep down dust was taken up and the Highway department directed to proceed with that work on the principal traveled streets.

Resignation of Charles F. Hopfer as a member of council from the Fourth ward because of removal from the ward was read to council and accepted.

Complaint regarding water in alley back of Dorcy street referred to street commissioner.

Request of Fire Department for dirt off streets to be dumped to fire house lot on Witmer street read to council and Highway department stated matter would be attended to and then be handled there.

The Borough Solicitor was directed to prepare an ordinance regulating jitney service generally in Clearfield and providing for license fees for same and report at subsequent meeting.

Street Commissioner M. F. Graham who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for county commissioner, asked for and was given a leave of absence for 30 days from August 15th in which to make his canvass.

AIRPLANE LIGHTS IN
BRADFORD TOWNSHIP

One of the New York to Chicago mail carriers paid a visit to the Lawrence Duncan farm in Bradford township this morning at 11:40. The fog was heavy and the airman lit his bearings. After taking a glimpse of the surroundings he yelled "get up" to old Dobbin and was on his way again. The farm is the old James Wilson farm.

Now just why did we go to war? We have some views on this matter too. Read this column tomorrow.

Human nature is indeed a funny thing. One fellow got mad as the dickens about his name being printed in connection with the violation of speed ordinances while another telephoned a nice order to us this morning.

THE LAST DAY OF CHAUTAUQUA

Chautauqua is over for another year and those who were frightened enough to avail themselves of the privilege of attending the sessions have been much benefited. Clearfield should never permit this worthy institution to pass the gates of the city without being invited to pitch its tent therein. It is at once an honor and a privilege to be numbered among the guarantors who are responsible for bringing the institution here.

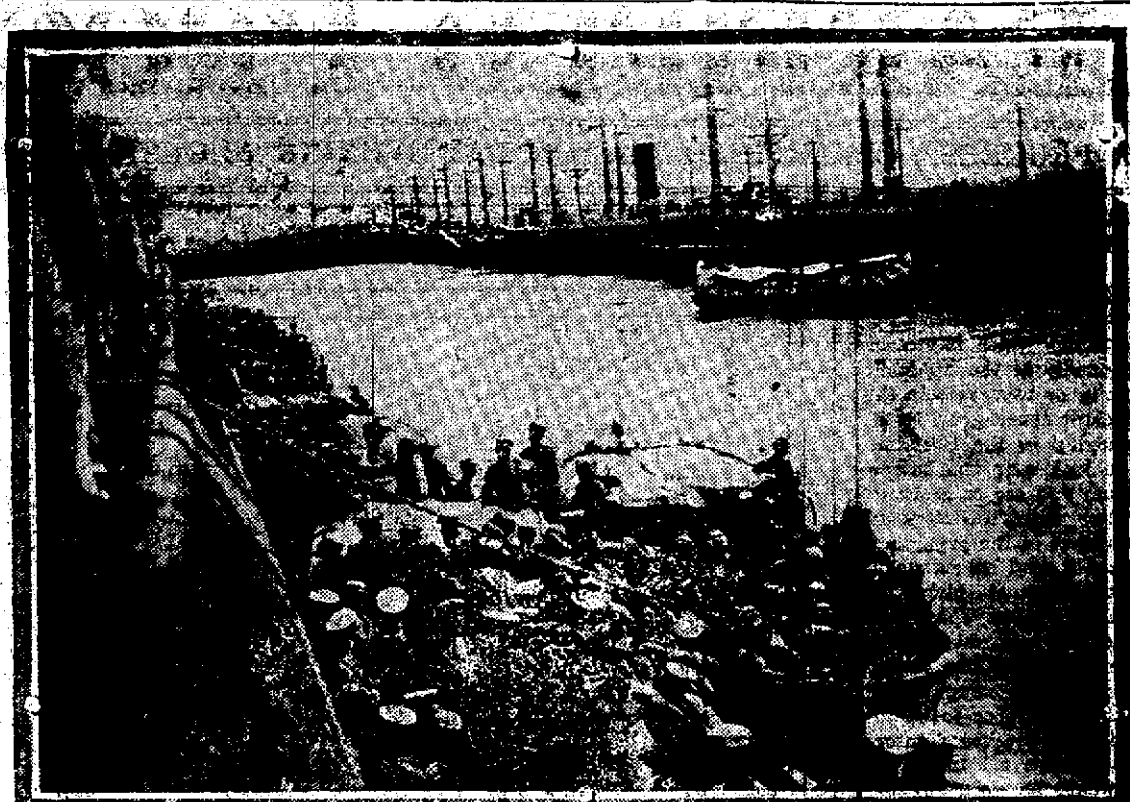

It is not the purpose of Chautauqua to please its audiences with sugar coated pills of oratory and therefore we have no right to expect that its platform reformers temper their speech to their audience. In fact it is a good thing for them to appear partisan at times as it sets people's thoughts in action and when a Chautauqua lecturer gets his hearers to thinking he has accomplished a large part of the mission he is expected to perform. Many people do not get the best out of Chautauqua because they let their minds drink in every utterance made and allow the orator to sway them in their better judgment.

This season of Chautauqua has done more to set Clearfield people thinking than any one heretofore. People have ceased to become ninety-minute converts to theoretical ideas but judging from comments we hear they have given several days concentrated thought to the problems of the age which were presented by the speakers. In fact it appears that some of our people think more than the orators. At least their conclusions are more logical. Be that as it may, Chautauqua has been a benefit to the community, and while we cannot agree with any of their speakers we enjoy listening to them and believe that it would be a misfortune not to have them come before us.

The lecture given last evening was interesting and informative. Aside from his continuous attempt to whitewash all the mistakes made in the war his address was worth listening to and his account of America's participation in the war was refreshing after Mr. Wile told us all about the part played by England. Dr. Green dwelt on the war debt of the United States and suggested that the only way to repay this debt was by production from the soil. He drew contrasts to show that we are using only a small percentage of the arable land in our domain and that as all wealth springs primarily from the earth, it will be to the earth that we must turn to create new wealth and pay our war debt in that way.

Dr. Green inadvertently made an admission which will be heartily concurred in by every student of the war when he said that at the beginning of the war the government was hopelessly unprepared and that six hundred greenhorns were yanked from the four corners of the country to make the needed preparations. Dr. Green said that he was one of them so the 599 others were no doubt drawn from the Chautauqua platform and universities and authors clubs, etc., and it was these men who made the aircraft mistakes, fell down on munitions, floundered on shipbuilding and did nothing but spend money like a drunken sailor. Later with grim necessity pointing the obvious result such men as Schwab and other practical men were pressed into service.

COURT NOTES

H. A. Cathcart by his attorneys, Chase & Chase and A. M. Liveright, began proceedings in the prothonotary's office to recover coal lands in Knox and Pike townships, leased to Kelly Brothers, who have not complied with the terms of the lease.

A modified injunction was granted in the case of the Adrian Furnace company against the International Union of Mine, Mill & Smelter workers, Local Union No. 271 or 272, which is affiliated with the A. F. of L. In this suit it appears the furnace people are having some wage difficulties with their men and sought to restrain the men from congregating on and about the company premises in Sandy township and interfering with their workmen. An agreement was reached by the parties after but one or two witnesses were heard. The men agree to remain away from the premises, but are allowed to maintain not more than five pickets at the street car station near the plant.

Demonstration Week Proves CALORIC Superiority

Many of your neighbors have come to our store this week to learn more about the new Caloric Furnace. We have explained the simplicity of the Caloric. We have shown them many hundreds of letters from some of the fifty thousand satisfied users. We have shown letters which tell of fuel savings amounting to more than 75% of previous coal bills. We have shown letters which tell of heating entire homes when three and four stoves failed to keep half of the house warm before. Come in before the demonstration is over. It will pay you.

The Caloric Pipeless Furnace is an entirely new principle of heating. It forever puts an end to expensive, unsatisfactory pipes or the use of many stoves. Study these pictures at the left. They explain better than we can tell you the reason for the success of the Caloric. Remember the discomforts of last winter and resolve that you will keep your house warm all over and save money on fuel this year. Come in and talk over your heating problem.

SAVES 35% FUEL

We are prepared to show you hundreds of testimonials proving enormous savings in fuel bills by the use of the Caloric. These cases are not the exception—they are the rule with Caloric users. The Caloric will positively heat your entire house with a saving of fuel, or we will take it out without expense to you. We urge you to come to the store while the Caloric is being demonstrated. Only two more days. Come in or call us up and arrange for appointment.

IN CONVENTION AT BUFFALO TODAY

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 5.—Full of enthusiasm for a successful meeting and a week of pleasure in Buffalo and vicinity thousands of members of the Society of Christian Endeavor gathered in this city today for the international convention, the first to be held by the well-known organization in several years. All sections of the United States and Canada are represented by delegates and the leaders hope that the convention will be one of the most successful as well as one of the largest ever held by the Endeavorers. Tonight the delegates will listen to the message of Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark, the founder and head of the United Society of Christian Endeavor.

Daily sessions will be held by the convention until Monday of next week. The program is considered one of the most attractive ever prepared for a convention of the organization. While much of the time will be devoted to the transaction of routine business, of which there is an unusual amount to be attended to because of the calling off of the 1917 convention on account of the war, the program provides for numerous public sessions at which speakers of national and international prominence will be heard. Included among those to address the convention will be Secretary of War Baker, William Jennings Bryan, Rev. John Timothy Stone, former moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly; Rev. Floyd W. Tomkins, of Philadelphia; Rev. William Hiram Foulkes, of the Presbyterian New Era Movement, and Rev. J. Campbell White, the well-known educator and evangelist, until recently president of Wooster College.

NOW MUST TELL OTHER TROUBLES

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—(United Press)—Bartenders, formerly helmsmen of many a schooner, under the good skipper Old Man Hattan, are now looking for a snug harbor as a result of the demise of their friend, John Bar Le Corn, one month ago.

But the late mixers of merry mug-ge declare the first of July and the consequent advent of prohibition brot them one relief, viz, they no longer have to answer the question which was propounded about 98,764,834 times: "Well, Joe, whatta ya gonna do after prohibition comes?"

The famous characters who won national reputations for their skill in concocting juleps and toddies are now seeking other work, and they have become conspicuous by their absence from this city's famous thoroughfare, Broadway.

And Broadway misses the men to whom it used to whisper its troubles. The well known cafes and cabarets are no longer patronized by the crowds of sun-dodgers who once almost lived in them. The owners predict that they will soon go into bankruptcy unless the ban on strong liquors is lifted. They are fairly whistling among tombstones in an effort to maintain optimism, but this is difficult amid surroundings of empty tables.

As the Great Thirst approached, the proprietors were shaken with doubt. Some opined it might be possible to serve capers and food at a profit without the admixture of alcohol, but they are now mostly convinced that it is impossible.

Prominent restaurateurs say people simply won't eat enough food to make a floor show profitable. There is a distinct height to which prices can go and there they must stop. Patrons were given a sad awakening as the prices began to jump immediately after prohibition. These patrons worried little about prices so long as they could drive away dull care by a cocktail. But there is slight exhilaration to be found in a ham sandwich, plain.

The owners entertain vague hopes that some miracle will occur to save their fortunes. The Anti-Saloon League may be declared unconstitutional and the eighteenth amendment repealed—perhaps.

Bon vivants intent upon eating green corn would—if perfectly sober resent the interruption of a young person dressed like a Kewpie and playing a violin. Ladies from our best circles have in the past been known to think it a good joke when the young lady on the end tickled a fat husband on his second chin with her toe. Under present conditions such an incident would furnish a topic for fireside discussion for the rest of the year.

Then there is the chance that the cabaret proprietors might abandon the theatre business and entice custom by purveying very good food. But that has not been the New York way. The New York habit has been to order a large plate of something hot, washed down with something cold, and followed by something cold irrigated by something hot. Then the dinner turns red and glows. Perfect service of perfect food may follow the departure of the cabaret from the better New York restaurants.

BOY SCOUTS

The following telegram from former Secretary of the Treasury W. G. McAdoo was sent from Santa Barbara, Cal., to Chief Scout Executive James O. West of the Boy Scouts of America, New York:

"Truly the organized boyhood of America as constituted in the boy scouts has rendered an extraordinary and wonderful service to the country in connection with the Liberty loan and War and Thrift Stamps campaigns. In the fourth Liberty loan campaign I am told that the boy scouts secured subscriptions for $92,000,000 representing 700,000 subscribers, and that in the War and Thrift Stamps campaign they have sold approximately $42,300,000 to 2,156,000 individuals. This is an inspiring achievement, and the Boy Scouts of America have vindicated by their initiative, patriotism, energy and courage the highest conceptions of Junior American citizenship. Give the valiant troops of the boy scout organization my warm congratulations and best wishes. I am proud of these boys, and the country is proud of them. There is still vital work to be done for the country, and I look to the boy scouts to do their part with the same valor and patriotism they have exhibited in previous campaigns."

EXPLORER ANTHONY FIALA.

Noted Arctic circle traveler is now commissioner of boy scouts at Springfield, Mass.

PRINCIPLE OF SCOUTING.

Scouting is becoming an important factor in the successful raising of boys to manhood. The scout movement develops the sense of duty in the youngster that enables him to probe within himself for the manly characteristics. It's a man-size job to be done in a man's way, and W. A. Perry, the editor of Scouting, offers a few lines on that subject:

"I am not interested in scouting in a high-priced school amid landscape gardening, and statuary, and drinking fountain—all made by somebody else—I am interested in a forest far from civilization, where I must either conquer nature—or confess myself a weakling. It is a fine thing to teach boys to stand in line with spotless uniforms and win the applause of a crowd gathered to witness a dress parade. But I would rather develop a boy, so that he could walk alone into a world of wickedness, conscious of the great laws back of it all, with a spirit which would make him forget self and fight for the right."

SCOUT ASLEEP KEPT SECRET.

"But, mamma, what did I say? What did I say?" There was anxiety in the boy scout's tones.

The little fellow had joined the tenderfoot class of the boy scouts the night before, and had been cautioned not to reveal the password of the rank, to not even mention it "in his sleep."

Next morning his mother asked him what made him so nervous during his sleep, telling him he had talked all night long, according to the story reaching J. E. Pershing, scout executive of Oklahoma City, a cousin of General Pershing.

When assured that the secret word was still sacredly kept, he breathed a long sigh and the look of relief that swept his face was like a burst of sunshine after a storm.

BOY SCOUT DOINGS.

A boy scout firemanhood examination was held in Spokane, Wash., and the 15 scouts who took the examination passed.

As their "good turn" Troop No. 15 of Toledo, O., scraped the church fire-scope with wire brushes so it could be repainted.

When a Vineland, N. J., milk dealer offered the boy scouts a prize to find his 1,500 missing bottles, one scout found 80 in one back yard. Eighteen scouts located 1,087 bottles.

WOMEN CAN SEND WASHING TO THE LAUNDRY SAFELY

Clearfield laundrymen, in common with their neighbors in other cities throughout the United States, have launched a movement for the emancipation of housewives from the family wash-tub. The wash-tub has been branded by them a "relic of the dark ages of housekeeping."

A feature of the enterprise will be a campaign of education to wean womenfolk away from old prejudices against the laundry, and to acquaint them at the same time with the notable progress that has been made by the industry within the last decade.

"The enterprise is not intended to be a revolutionary undertaking," stated a nationally known laundry leader, "it is simply the coming to pass of something that has been long expected. It is a part, really, of what may be termed the 'feminist' advance of the age."

"We no longer look upon women as mere menials. Our new conception of them is as helpmates and companions, with equal social and civic privileges. Women are barred from quick realization of this finer future, however, by such unnecessary duties as the family wash, that alone take up from one and one-half to two days of the week."

"The laundry industry, from one end of America to the other, is offering to take over this burden just as the spinner and weaver long ago took over the business of making clothes; in fact as a hundred items of household drudgery have been taken over by industry."

"We propose to indicate to the women of America the progress that has been made by the laundry industry; we will show them, for example, that while in its rudimentary the home-washing process has changed but little since the time of Noah, the laundry has improved until it has become not alone a cleanser of clothes, but a conservator of them also."

"Once the American housewife discovers that it is safe and economical to send the family wash to the laundry, the most burdensome of household tasks will be abolished from the home forever."

"A freer womanhood—a cleaner America—these are the motives behind the movement for educating women to use of the modern laundry for their family washing."

SUPERVISOR OF CENSUS

Frank E. Costello, of Bradford, has been named as Supervisor of the Census for District No. 15 of Pennsylvania, according to the list published in the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times of Saturday last.

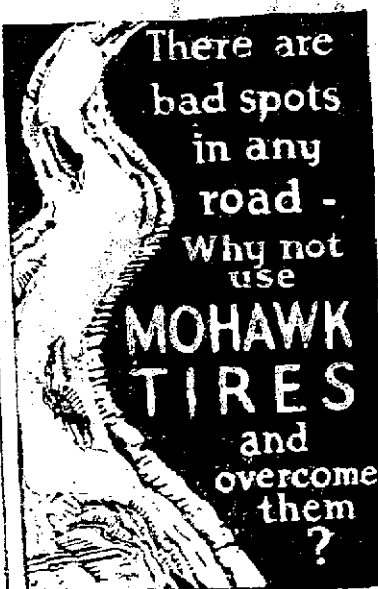

Clearfield county is a part of District No. 15 and Clearfield had at least three applicants for this plum, which will pay about $1700 for nine months work.

Costello is Secretary of the Democratic county committee of McKean county and had the endorsement of the Democratic state and county organizations in the district.

When Occasion Calls for Afternoon Gowns

To be correctly and smartly gowned, that is the "consummation devoutly to be wished," when occasion calls for afternoon clothes. In these gowns most young women may be beautiful, and older ones brilliant and stunning; they offer the best of opportunities and a test of ability to take advantage of them. With the fabrics at hand this season, designers have done most unusual things. It is to their credit that they have taken the figured and plain georgettes, satins, crepes de chine and organzas and made innumerable beautiful combinations of them, resulting in a variety that has added new interest to each week since summer dawned. These materials are everywhere. It is the art of the dress-maker that turns them out in unexpected ways and transforms them into unusual gowns.

In the picture above georgette and satin are the very usual fabrics that have been converted into two brilliant afternoon frocks. The frock at the left is suited to matronly wearers, with its striking contrasts and general richness of appearance. It owes this to the character of the pattern in the printed georgette as much as to the materials that make it, which are not extravagant in price. The skirt and under-bodice are of black satin, the sleeves of black georgette. A bodice and tulle of printed georgette are posed over this satin foundation and a long, full, pointed flounce of it finishes the sleeves. The tulle is cut away over the hips and another agreeable surprise greets us in a narrow border of plain georgette at the bottom of the skirt. There is a girlish of very wide satin ribbon with a single loop and short end at the back, to finish a gown that has distinction and dignity.

Distinction belongs also to the gown of printed georgette for a younger woman, shown at the right. Perhaps the suggestion of Japan in its printed figures accounts for the wide kimono sleeve. But the influence of this Japan ends here. The full skirt is gathered in about the ankles, and the real waistline lies easily about the real waistline. It is a graceful gown, presenting unexpected and very pleasing features in the gathered-in-hem and oriental sleeve. One can imagine it in peach or lavender or other pretty shades, any of them set off by the wide black band that is in the same class with it.

FRIENDSHIP BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA IS BOUND INSEPARABLY BY TIES OF BLOOD

Type of Farm Americans make in Western Canada

Lord Shoughnessy, An American who found success in Canada

The closeness of social and commercial relations between Canada and the United States is indicated by the ever-increasing number of Americans who are seeking homes in the great farming districts of the prairie provinces of the Dominion.

In the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba alone there are 580,212 Americans. This is more than the total population of Alberta, which is 579,000. In Alberta nearly half the population, 275,000 to be exact, are of American birth. The British-born residents being about a third of this number. In Saskatchewan there are 226,350

Americans, and in Manitoba 78,789. Last year about 10,000 Americans came to Alberta, which was the lowest number in thirteen years, except in 1915, when the number was 6,261. With the war over, it is expected that the influx will resume its former proportions, which averaged about 25,000 a year, the top figure being reached in 1909, when a record of 34,583 was established.

The number of resident immigrants other than British or American born is about 40,000 and practically no more are coming over. Americans like the Canadian West. They find in it the same aggressive, enterprising spirit which characterizes the United States. They find democratic laws and institutions, fair play, reform movements of the best type and innumerable opportunities for bettering their material circumstances. Then, the fact that there are many Americans already in Canada brings more, for they are especially gregarious when their own people are concerned.

Canadians and Americans stood shoulder to shoulder in war and mingled their best blood on Flanders fields. Now, in peace, they still stand shoulder to shoulder and mingle their blood in ties of kinship.

"Y" TAKES THIRD STRAIGHT GAME

The "Y" team kind of blasted the pennant hopes of the Brick Yard when they trimmed them to the tune of 7 to 6. The game was exciting from start to finish but it was the "Y" game all the way through as the brick slammers did not once forge ahead.

The "Y" got two runs in the first, four in the second and one in the seventh. The brick yarders got one in the second, one in the third, one in the sixth and three in the seventh.

If Back Hurts Begin On Salts

Flush your kidneys occasionally if you eat meat regularly.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys. occasionally, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

BASEBALL AS SHE IS WRIT IN LONDON

(By United Press.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The staid old London Times, for the first time in its 131 years, has printed a box score. Not only that, but it describes the game in baseball slang that would bring a blush to the cheek of an American writer. A copy of the Times, received here today, contains the following:

"In a closely contested game of baseball at Oxford, between Oxford and Cambridge—teams composed of the most part of former American college men attending the two universities—Oxford won 6 to 4.

"The pastime was featured by the heavy stick-work of Wallace, former Harvard star, who slammed out a three-bagger and a homer in three tries with the willow. For the first three frames both teams hung tough and allowed no scoring. The fourth inning netted a brace for the home lads. Ives clouted one to center and Richards let the sphere slip. Eagle watched four bad ones go by, and after Ives was tagged trying to steal home, was pushed over for the first tally when Williams leaned against one for two sacks. Shaweney went bad here and gave Storey a free ticket, and Wallace came through with a three-station bingle that shoved Williams and Storey across. Brown ended the agony by missing three.

"In the sixth, Cambridge made an effort to close the gap when Shaweney kissed the leather for a bingle. Richards picked a double and Myers followed up with a safe swat which brought the count within one. It looked good for another after Myers swiped the second stop, but Thragate and Hart both carved the breeze. Oxford wasn't going to let them feel too good about it, though, so they slipped up a few more to convince the crowd it wasn't visitors' day. Eagle went to first on Myers' error, Gammell took a stroll, and both were forced at the third corner by Williams and Storey. Wallace stepped into a nice one for the washout drive and was well over the platter before the ball was played in. Shaweney was here yanked to give Clark a chance to use his slams, and after singling through, second, Brown was nabbed off the first pillow.

"Cambridge came back strong in the eighth when Shaweney singled, Richards was given a life, and both scored with the help of a two-timer from Myers and a nifty sacrifice by Thragate, but the combined efforts of Hart and Beal could not push the anxious Myers over."

The line-ups were:
Oxford—Ives, c; Eagle, l. f.; Gammell, 2b.; Williams, s.s.; Storey, 3b.; Wallace, 1b.; Brown, c.f.; Conquist, r. f.; Thomas, p.
Cambridge—Richards, c.f.; Myers, 2b.; Thragate, r.f.; Hart, c.; Beal, 3b.; Gamoway, 1b.; Kreke, s.s.; Copland, l.f.; Shaweney, p.-l.f.; Clarke, p.

SENATOR REED WANTS U. S. TO GIVE HEED TO ITS OWN WANTS

WASHINGTON, August 5.—Various solutions of the problem of the high cost of living were offered in the course of a warm debate on the question in the Senate.

Among the remedies proposed was abandonment of government price fixing and of the government's policy of draining this country to feed Europe.

The Senator also suggested that if all the soldiers were brought back from Europe and put into labor there would be a tendency to balance industry.

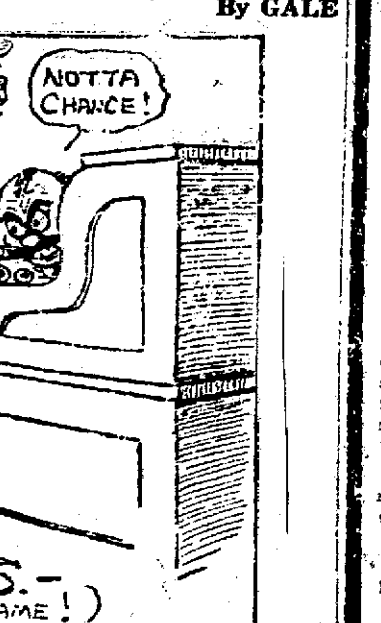

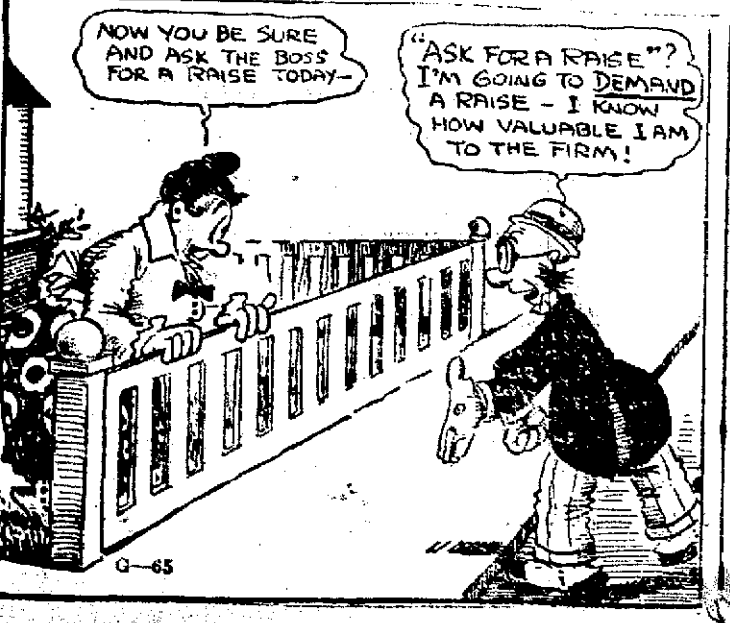

A pertinent suggestion in Senator Reed's speech was this:

"I am of the opinion that we had better be looking after the grave problems that concern the bread and butter, the fuel and the housing of our own country than be undertaking to look after the physical, spiritual and financial welfare of the gentlemen of Timbuctoo and other remote parts of the world."

If we cannot feed ourselves we ought not to be undertaking to feed the world. If we cannot keep prices here within the ability of our purses we ought not to be spending our money and giving food to people who are 2,000 miles from our shores and who brought misfortune upon themselves."

JORDAN'S

JUNIOR CHAUTAUQUA PLEASED
ALL

The stunts pulled off by the Junior Chautauqua under the big tent yesterday afternoon furnished real pleasure to a large audience. The local Junior Chautauquans were the attraction and their work was classy in the extreme. "Major" Andy Waterworth was the particular star of the afternoon and charmed everybody by the professional manner in which he tossed off difficult feat after feat. Andy was as loose as ashes and twice as dusty and was used as the king pin of many thrilling stunts. As the "point" of the pyramid Andy developed for the instant a mild case of cold feet, but his sand pulled him through, he went to the top, took the leap and came up smiling amid the applause which greeted the finish.

Every participant deserves very favorable mention for the good work accomplished.

SOME RATTLE SNAKES

Alex Wallace was in from his fishing and herding camp on the headwaters of Trout Run Saturday last with the skins and rattles of nine big rattlers which he and three companions had slaughtered during the past week.

The biggest one in the bunch measured four feet in length and sported an even dozen of rattles. Alex said he played one bar of "Watch on the Rhine" on his bells before they got a crack at him.

Attorney A. R. Chase spent the past ten days at Goshen camp and during his rustling about the berry bushes on the club house farm he ran across a black rattler four and one-half feet in length with nine rattles and a button.

He slew the reptile and Harry Hummelbaugh, who was at the camp skinned and dressed the monster and fried four ounces of oil out of him. Chase is making a hair restorer with the snake oil as a base and says it promises great results.

BUSY DAY IN STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—A slump which carried stocks to the lowest levels in days of trading hit the market this morning and prices went down to alarming levels. After the fall in prices, trading was resumed in large quantity and prices recovered and in many instances made large gains over the closing figures yesterday. U. S. Steel after selling below 105 went up to 105 while Crucible quickly jumped to 150 after being low at 125. All steels were affected in the slump and all climbed on the reaction. Other stocks responded accordingly.

NOTICE

On account of the high cost of living the barbers of Clearfield have found it necessary to raise the price of hair cutting from 35c to 50c and shaving from 15c to 20c. All other prices to remain the same. We find that it is impossible to keep barbers at the business, as they can earn more money in less hours at other work; consequently we are continually looking for barbers. We feel that we are perfectly justified in making this increase in prices.

The new prices will go into effect Monday morning, August 11th, 1919.

Hours will remain the same. All shops closed on Sunday.

NUMBER 22

PROGRAM COMMITTEE ON
PRICE REDUCTION ARE
READY TO MAKE REPORTBELIEVED THAT IT WILL INCLUDE PRICE
REDUCTION ON WHEAT AND REDUC-
TION OF THE CURRENCY

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS ON FOODS

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 5.—"Certain definite suggestions" for reducing the high cost of living have been prepared for submission to the president, Attorney General Palmer, spokesmen of the special government committee appointed for the purpose of framing a program, announced today after a conference in which eleven cabinet members and government officials took part. These officials heard the recommendations of Federal Trade Commissioner Colby, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Leffingwell and Director General Hines who were appointed to investigate the matter and make recommendations. It is said that the suggestions will include a reduction in the price of wheat, a reduction in currency, the licensing of dealers in necessities and a revival of the food administration which was organized during the war. Palmer would give no inkling of what the report would contain but that it will recommend vigorous prosecution of profiteers was indicated by the presence of C. W. Ames, Special Assistant to Attorney General Palmer in charge of the anti trust prosecutions and the administration of the food and fuel departments.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 5.—Danger of a coal famine added itself today to the complications in the railroad and high cost of living problems confronting the government while the Senate Agricultural committee met to take up the food problem and the Interstate Commerce committee considered the railroad wage problem. Senators Hitchcock and Pomerene injected the coal problem into the consideration of the various departments of government. Hitchcock declared that the fuel problem was acute and that it was so closely in league with food and the cost of living that it was not to be overlooked. He pointed out that with a shortage of coal the price of that necessity would rise and with it there would come higher prices of other necessities to produce which coal at a reasonable price was necessary. Pomerene declared that coal producers of Ohio were crippled now from a shortage of cars and that they could double their output with an ample supply of cars. Both senators declared that a maximum of relief would be obtained by a solution of the fuel question for the winter and that it behooved the government to tackle this problem first and get it out of the way before autumn. Pomerene declared that there was no shortage of mine labor in Ohio and that a full supply of cars would guarantee the miners of that state a prosperous year and contribute to the stability of industry in that state and in those sections which depend on Ohio for their coal supply. He said that if the car situation was not remedied before fall, business would stagnate, mills would shut down and there would be a great discontent among the laborers in Ohio. Hitchcock declared that coal was but one of the problems to be solved and made a plea for the nationalization of both the coal and railway industry.

"I think the present trend is toward nationalization of railroads and when that comes there will be nationalization of the other industries and coal will be the first to follow in the wake of the railways," said Senator Cummins, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee. "I do not anticipate any such action in the immediate future" added Cummins.

When representatives of the Big Four call on the president tomorrow they will present their program for an equalization of wages and living costs and their program will be identical with that outlined in this column only a few days ago at which time it was stated that it would include nationalization of the railroads with a directorate divided equally among the people, the employees and the operating officials and a bond issue to pay for the roads.

The President is devoting all his time to the wage and living problem it was stated at the White House today. Conferences with Senators on the league of nations and peace treaty have been deferred again until such times as some plan of action for lowering prices is evolved. Wilson will confer with Attorney General Palmer after the general cabinet meeting today.

PERSHING'S VIEWS ON TRAINING BILL SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, August 5.—Congress is desirous of hearing General Pershing on the universal military training bill and the War Department program calling for an army of a half million men before acting on it. There are indications that the War Department program calling for an army of a half million men before acting on it. There are indications that the War Department bill will meet with many objections in both houses of congress.

REVERENCE IN CHURCH
WORSHIP

By JOHN F. STRAYER

Pastor of U. B. Church, Woodland, Pa.
One of the things which impresses me most profoundly is the apparent lack of solemnity or reverence in the average Protestant churchgoer. Nothing is so annoying to the Christian minister as to look over the assembled worshippers and see so much of levity and utter thoughtlessness of the place and object of the gathering. Some time since I read an article in the Ladies Home Journal giving instructions to theatergoers. They were admonished not to talk during the presentation of the play, nor to eat candy, etc., nor to do aught that might cause their neighbor to be inconvenienced in the evening's entertainment. And above all to be on time. These would be good suggestions to the churchgoer.

Other important instructions to churchgoers are given. The following inscription is over the entrance to Hawarden Chapel, where Mr. Gladstone worshipped: "On your way to the Lord's house, be thoughtful, be silent, or say but little, and that little good. Speak not of other men's faults; think of your own, for you are going to ask forgiveness. Never stay outside; go in at once; time spent in side should be precious. Bow down very humbly and pray. Spend the time that remains in prayer. Remember the awful presence into which you have come. Do not look about to discover who are coming in, or to any other cause. It matters not to you what others are doing; attend to yourself. Fasten your thoughts firmly on the holy service; do not miss one word. This needs a severe struggle; you have no time for vain thoughts. The blessed Spirit will strengthen you if you persevere."

The sacred writer said, "The Lord is in his holy temple; let all the earth keep silent before him." No matter how we may differ in form or non-essentials, all Christians should cultivate the spirit of reverence for the things of God and the church God's dwelling upon earth.

WASHTUB

While two local young men, who had hiked out to the mountains Sunday afternoon, were enjoying the view from the breast of the Moose Creek water dam they were shocked almost beyond repair when three husky, corrugated maidens marched out of the brush and proceeded to use the reservoir for a wash tub, a la la women of France and Belgium.

One girl washed out a pair of long socks, another made her undershirt white as snow while the third proceeded to get the dirt out of an article of apparel which these young men from their lack of experience were unable to name, although from the architecture of said article they did not put "them" on over their head.

The water was quite low in the reservoir and the ladies were forced to go out near the centre of the dam to find a pool big enough in which to set up their laundry and the unlooked-for visitors were able to get a good view of the washerwomen and handed in the names for publication, but considering the act more thoughtless than less dignified dirty we refrain from publishing them at this time.

After seeing the laundry party the young men skirted the road along the reservoir and found five or six other fairies bathing their dimpled toes in the limpid water Clearfield people are drinking.

OSCEOLA

Lawshe Dorr, of Clearfield, and John Dempsey, of Osceola, have purchased the store of Baird, Rickenbaugh & Co., at Osceola, and will take possession of same on August 21st.

The Baird and Rickenbaugh store is one of the largest mercantile establishments in that section of Clearfield county. Lawshe Dorr is one of Clearfield's finest young men and a good business man, while Mr. Dempsey has been engaged in the mercantile business at Osceola for several years.

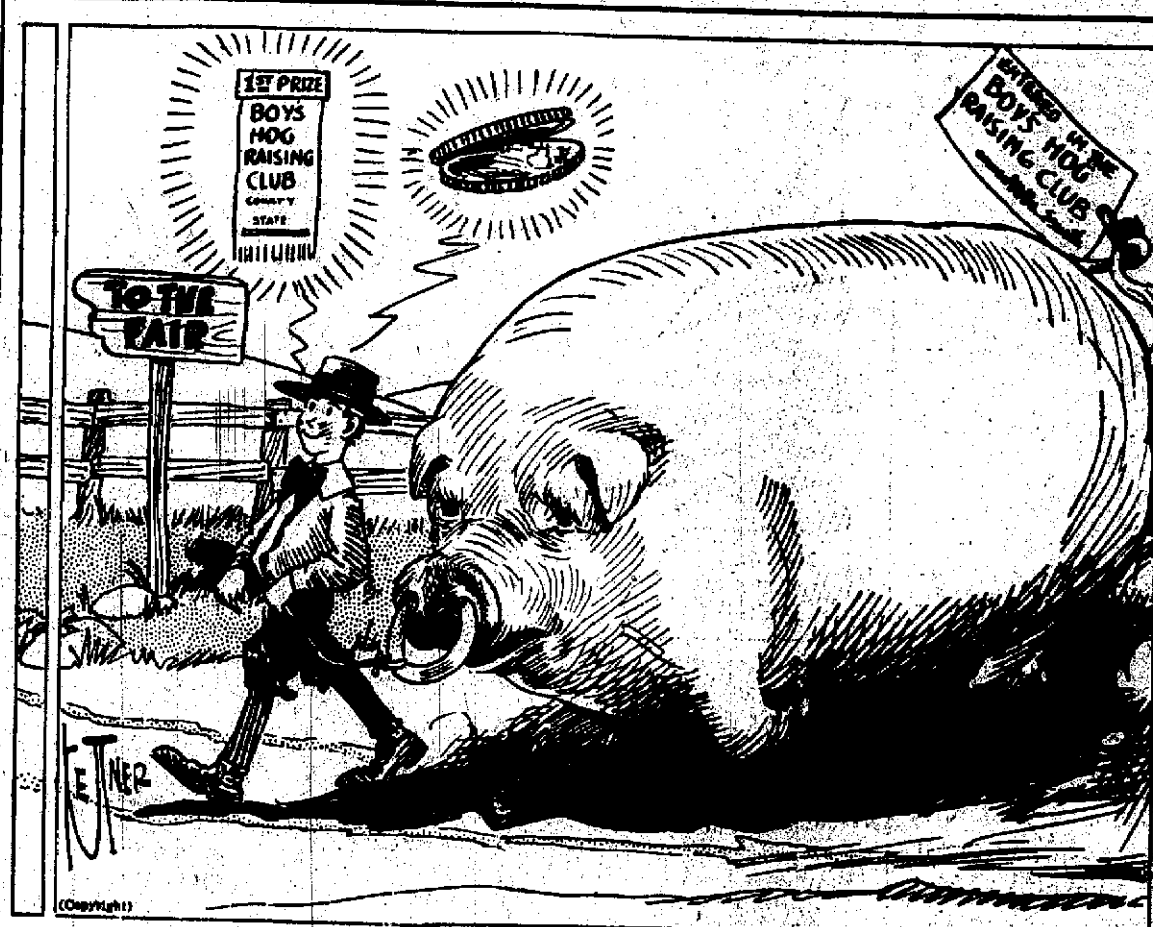

The Progress joins their host of friends in wishing the new firm unbounded success in their venture.

FRENCHVILLE PICNIC

Just forty-eight years ago last month the first picnic was held at Frenchville. The Clearfield band, then the crack musical organization of this section, was the feature of the picnic. The picnic was held again on July 23d, 1872 and again the band was on hand to make sweetest music and thereby add to the enjoyment of the hundreds who had gathered at Frenchville for the day. Visitors made the trip on foot, on horseback, by horse and buggy and several ox teams hauled their creaking wagons loaded with merry-makers to the picnic ground.

This picnic has since been an annual affair at Frenchville and such excellent weather pickers are the French that never in all the intervening years, almost half a century, has there been rain sufficient to interfere with the picnic. A remarkable record.

This year, the 49th annual picnic will be held in the beautiful grove near the church and arrangements are being made to take care of the biggest crowd in the history of this popular picnic. The roads are in pretty fair shape down that way now and as the ox team has been replaced by the ever-present and damned, but popular Henry Ford, automobile parties will make up the bulk of the assemblage and large numbers of Clearfield people will be on hand as usual.

CROWN PRINCE OF
ENGLAND ON WAY
TO AMERICA TODAY

PORTSMOUTH, ENG., Aug. 5.—

The Renown, carrying the Prince of Wales to America, left the harbor today to the accompaniment of a royal salute by the guns of the warships and the forts. The ships were manned, the bands played the national anthem and enormous crowds on shore cheered as the Renown passed out.

Along the sea front off Spithead a number of warships awaited the Renown and led her out to sea. While no attempt will be made to establish a speed record the crew of the Renown, from her captain down to the stokers, is bent upon carrying the Prince across the Atlantic at a good clip. The vessel's machinery when she sailed was in perfect condition and her bunkers were filled with the choicest coal.

According to present plans the trip of His Royal Highness will occupy at least three months, so that it will probably be mid-November before he returns to England. The immediate objective is St. John's, Nfld., which port will be reached, if all goes well, on the morning of Aug. 12. From Newfoundland he will proceed to St. John's, N. B., arriving there Aug. 15. Visits to Halifax, Charlottetown and other places in the Maritime Provinces will follow and then will come a trip up the St. Lawrence to Quebec.

The Prince will leave the Renown at Quebec and then proceed overland to Toronto. Ottawa will next be visited, where the Prince will lay the foundation stone of the new tower for the Parliament Buildings. The subsequent itinerary will include a transcontinental journey that will extend as far as Vancouver and Victoria, with stops at numerous points in western Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. There will also be a journey across the border, with visits to New York, Washington and other cities of the United States.

ONE ARMED SNAKE HUNTER IN TOWN

Fred Smith, of Surveyor, was a Clearfield visitor yesterday and while in town exhibited the hide and rattle of the largest rattlesnake killed in this section this season. The snake measured five feet two inches in length as he crawled; his dangerous way through the bracken and underbrush down in Girard township until Fred and his dog Kaiser ran across him. He also sported fourteen rattles and a button.

Fred Smith is quite a character in his way down in his home country. He is a grandson of the late "Squaw" John Smith of the Third Ward and is six feet six inches high. He lost his left arm at the shoulder in a railroad accident several years ago. While working as a brakeman on a freight train.

Despite this handicap he is an excellent hunter and trapper and can handle a shotgun with his single remaining flipper as expertly as the average man with two good arms and hands, and in addition to that is an expert shot with rifle or shotgun.

He possesses a dog which he says is worth any man's hundred dollars and no man could buy it for five hundred. It is a cross between a Dachshund and Beagle and on account of its ruthless laughter of groundhogs and by reason of his Russian extraction Fred calls him "Kaiser," altho he is thinking of changing his name—he is such a good dog.

Fred and the "Kaiser" are terrors to the groundhogs which infest the meadow lands in his home section, and thus far this summer they have slain fifty-three of the animals. The "Kaiser" is equally at home in hunting rattlers and the combination also have the scalp of no less than thirty rattlesnakes to their credit this season, and this is no snake story but the truth.

Smith herds cattle, fishes, hunts and traps the year round and knows every game trail, by-path or near-cut on the mountains in this section and realizes several hundred dollars per year from the sale of furs and pelts which he secures during the trapping season.

COUNCILMAN HOPFER RESIGNS

Nine members answered present to roll call when President Fletcher called last night's meeting of Council to order in the borough building.

Burgess Chase was present and reported 11 arrests during July, but one of which was for drunkenness. He collected $5 in fines and $13 in licenses for the month.

Street Commissioner Graham reported progress of Highways sewer and of general street work since last meeting.

Borough Solicitor Urey presented a check for $488.90 being collections on Spruce and Martin street curb and gutter since last report.

Borough Engineer Hess reported on South Second street repaving, stating that inlets had been placed and gutters built from the Point to Ogden avenue.

No also reported progress of Highways sewer on block between Twelfth and Eleventh streets, where the cut is over twelve feet. He stated that curb had been changed at corner of Turnpike and West Market streets and condition improved. Sidewalk grades were also given on Dorcy street and complained that the crossing at Eighth street had been raised six inches higher than planned.

The Engineer also presented map of original plat of West Clearfield borough which showed 50 foot street at Nicholas and West Front. In his report on Third street paving the Engineer stated that Division Engineer Malley of the Pennsylvania was in Clearfield and went over the situation. He said the present arrangement most satisfactory to the railroad company, but asked that council make a statement of just what they wished in the matter and it would then be given the consideration it deserved.

A petition signed by some 304 citizens and taxpayers asking that the street be improved was read to Council after which it was decided to ask the railroad company to assist in making a 24-foot paved roadway on Third street from Walnut to Highways avenue.

The health officer was directed to serve notice for the removal of outside water closet on Clearfield street. The matter of filling of old streets to keep down dust was taken up and the Highway department directed to proceed with that work on the principal traveled streets.

Resignation of Charles F. Hopfer as a member of council from the Fourth ward because of removal from the ward was read to council and accepted.

Complaint regarding water in alley back of Dorcy street referred to street commissioner.

Request of Fire Department for dirt off streets to be dumped to fire house lot on Witmer street read to council and Highway department stated matter would be attended to and then be handled there.

The Borough Solicitor was directed to prepare an ordinance regulating jitney service generally in Clearfield and providing for license fees for same and report at subsequent meeting.

Street Commissioner M. F. Graham who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for county commissioner, asked for and was given a leave of absence for 30 days from August 15th in which to make his canvass.

AIRPLANE LIGHTS IN
BRADFORD TOWNSHIP

One of the New York to Chicago mail carriers paid a visit to the Lawrence Duncan farm in Bradford township this morning at 11:40. The fog was heavy and the airman lit his bearings. After taking a glimpse of the surroundings he yelled "get up" to old Dobbin and was on his way again. The farm is the old Jerome Wilson farm.

Now just why did we go to war? We have some views on this matter too. Read this column tomorrow.

Human nature is indeed a funny thing. One fellow got mad as the dickens about his name being printed in connection with the violation of speed ordinances while another telephoned a nice order to us this morning.

THE LAST DAY OF CHAUTAUQUA

Chautauqua is over for another year and those who were frightened enough to avail themselves of the privilege of attending the sessions have been much benefited. Clearfield should never permit this worthy institution to pass the gates of the city without being invited to pitch its tent therein. It is at once an honor and a privilege to be numbered among the guarantors who are responsible for bringing the institution here.

It is not the purpose of Chautauqua to please its audiences with sugar coated pills of oratory and therefore we have no right to expect that its platform reformers temper their speech to their audience. In fact it is a good thing for them to appear partisan at times as it sets people's thoughts in action and when a Chautauqua lecturer gets his hearers to thinking he has accomplished a large part of the mission he is expected to perform. Many people do not get the best out of Chautauqua because they let their minds drink in every utterance made and allow the orator to sway them in their better judgment.

This season of Chautauqua has done more to set Clearfield people thinking than any one heretofore. People have ceased to become ninety-minute converts to theoretical ideas but judging from comments we hear they have given several days concentrated thought to the problems of the age which were presented by the speakers. In fact it appears that some of our people think more than the orators. At least their conclusions are more logical. Be that as it may, Chautauqua has been a benefit to the community, and while we cannot agree with any of their speakers we enjoy listening to them and believe that it would be a misfortune not to have them come before us.

The lecture given last evening was interesting and informative. Aside from his continuous attempt to whitewash all the mistakes made in the war his address was worth listening to and his account of America's participation in the war was refreshing after Mr. Wile told us all about the part played by England. Dr. Green dwelt on the war debt of the United States and suggested that the only way to repay this debt was by production from the soil. He drew contrasts to show that we are using only a small percentage of the arable land in our domain and that as all wealth springs primarily from the earth, it will be to the earth that we must turn to create new wealth and pay our war debt in that way.

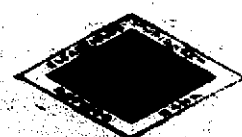

Dr. Green inadvertently made an admission which will be heartily concurred in by every student of the war when he said that at the beginning of the war the government was hopelessly unprepared and that six hundred greenhorns were yanked from the four corners of the country to make the needed preparations. Dr. Green said that he was one of them so the 599 others were no doubt drawn from the Chautauqua platform and universities and authors clubs, etc., and it was these men who made the aircraft mistakes, fell down on munitions, floundered on shipbuilding and did nothing but spend money like a drunken sailor. Later with grim necessity pointing the obvious result such men as Schwab and other practical men were pressed into service.

The Live Account

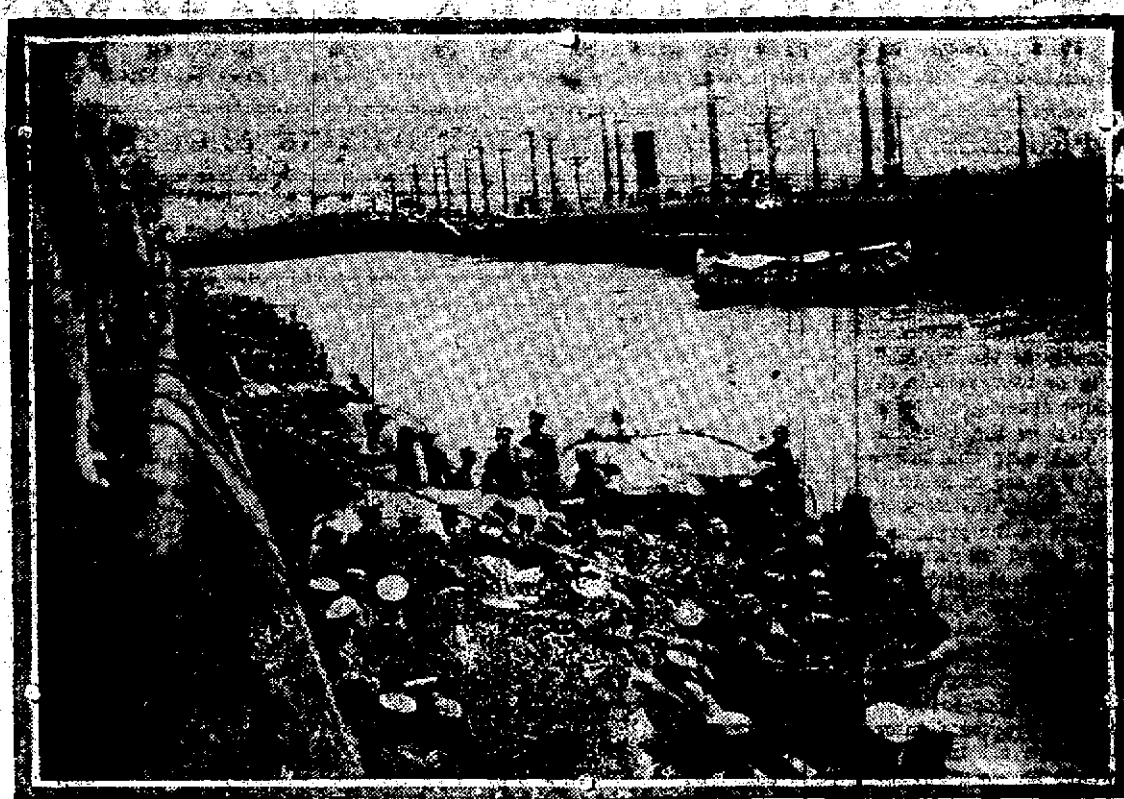

The real pleasure in a savings account is in keeping it alive.

People who open a savings account and then let it die from sheer neglect, usually do so because they try to save too much.

If you think you can save a certain amount, start in with but half this amount at the Clearfield Trust Co., and then stick and your savings account will be a success.

COURT NOTES

H. A. Cathcart by his attorneys, Chase & Chase and A. M. Liveright, began proceedings in the prothonotary's office to recover coal lands in Knox and Pike townships, leased to Kelly Brothers, who have not complied with the terms of the lease.

A modified injunction was granted in the case of the Adrian Furnace company against the International Union of Mine, Mill & Smelter workers, Local Union No. 271 or 272, which is affiliated with the A. F. of L. In this suit it appears the furnace people are having some wage difficulties with their men and sought to restrain the men from congregating on and about the company premises in Sandy township and interfering with their workmen. An agreement was reached by the parties after but one or two witnesses were heard. The men agree to remain away from the premises, but are allowed to maintain not more than five pickets at the street car station near the plant.

Demonstration Week Proves CALORIC Superiority

Many of your neighbors have come to our store this week to learn more about the new Caloric Furnace. We have explained the simplicity of the Caloric. We have shown them many hundreds of letters from some of the fifty thousand satisfied users. We have shown letters which tell of fuel savings amounting to more than 75% of previous coal bills. We have shown letters which tell of heating entire homes when three and four stoves failed to keep half of the house warm before. Come in before the demonstration is over. It will pay you.

The Caloric Pipeless Furnace is an entirely new principle of heating. It forever puts an end to expensive, unsatisfactory pipes or the use of many stoves. Study these pictures at the left. They explain better than we can tell you the reason for the success of the Caloric. Remember the discomforts of last winter and resolve that you will keep your house warm all over and save money on fuel this year. Come in and talk over your heating problem.

SAVES 35% FUEL

We are prepared to show you hundreds of testimonials proving enormous savings in fuel bills by the use of the Caloric. These cases are not the exception—they are the rule with Caloric users. The Caloric will positively heat your entire house with a saving of fuel, or we will take it out without expense to you. We urge you to come to the store while the Caloric is being demonstrated. IN CONVENTION AT BUFFALO TODAY

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 5.—Full of enthusiasm for a successful meeting and a week of pleasure in Buffalo and vicinity thousands of members of the Society of Christian Endeavor gathered in this city today for the international convention, the first to be held by the well-known organization in several years. All sections of the United States and Canada are represented by delegates and the leaders hope that the convention will be one of the most successful as well as one of the largest ever held by the Endeavorers. Tonight the delegates will listen to the message of Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark, the founder and head of the United Society of Christian Endeavor.

Daily sessions will be held by the convention until Monday of next week. The program is considered one of the most attractive ever prepared for a convention of the organization. While much of the time will be devoted to the transaction of routine business, of which there is an unusual amount to be attended to because of the calling off of the 1917 convention on account of the war, the program provides for numerous public sessions at which speakers of national and international prominence will be heard. Included among those to address the convention will be Secretary of War Baker, William Jennings Bryan, Rev. John Timothy Stone, former moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly; Rev. Floyd W. Tomkins, of Philadelphia; Rev. William Hiram Foulkes, of the Presbyterian New Era Movement, and Rev. J. Campbell White, the well-known educator and evangelist, until recently president of Wooster College.

Lead The Progress.

NOW MUST TELL OTHER TROUBLES

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—(United Press)—Bartenders, formerly helmsmen of many a schooner, under the good skipper Old Man Hattan, are now looking for a snug harbor as a result of the demise of their friend, John Bar Le Corn, one month ago.

But the late mixers of merry mulch declare the first of July and the consequent advent of prohibition brot them one relief, viz, they no longer have to answer the question which was propounded about 98,764,834 times: "Well, Joe, whatta ya gonna do after prohibition comes?"

The famous characters who won national reputations for their skill in concocting juleps and toddies are now seeking other work, and they have become conspicuous by their absence from this city's famous thoroughfare, Broadway.

And Broadway misses the men to whom it used to whisper its troubles. The well known cafes and cabarets are no longer patronized by the crowds of sun-dodgers who once almost lived in them. The owners predict that they will soon go into bankruptcy unless the ban on strong liquors is lifted. They are fairly whistling among tombstones in an effort to maintain optimism, but this is difficult amid surroundings of empty tables.

As the Great Thirst approached, the proprietors were shaken with doubt. Some opined it might be possible to serve capers and food at a profit without the admixture of alcohol, but they are now mostly convinced that it is impossible.

Prominent restaurateurs say people simply won't eat enough food to make a floor show profitable. There is a distinct height to which prices can go and there they must stop. Patrons were given a sad awakening as the prices began to jump immediately after prohibition. These patrons worried little about prices so long as they could drive away dull care by a cocktail. But there is slight exhilaration to be found in a ham sandwich, plain.

The owners entertain vague hopes that some miracle will occur to save their fortunes. The Anti-Saloon League may be declared unconstitutional and the eighteenth amendment repealed—perhaps.

Bon vivants intent upon eating green corn would—if perfectly sober resent the interruption of a young person dressed like a Kewpie and playing a violin. Ladies from our best circles have in the past been known to think it a good joke when the young lady on the end tickled a fat husband on his second chin with her toe. Under present conditions such an incident would furnish a topic for fireside discussion for the rest of the year.

Then there is the chance that the cabaret proprietors might abandon the theatre business and entice custom by purveying very good food. But that has not been the New York way. The New York habit has been to order a large plate of something hot, washed down with something cold, and followed by something cold irrigated by something hot. Then the dinner turns red and glows. Perfect service of perfect food may follow the departure of the cabaret from the better New York restaurants.

The following telegram from former Secretary of the Treasury W. G. McAdoo was sent from Santa Barbara, Cal., to Chief Scout Executive James G. West of the Boy Scouts of America, New York:

"Truly the organized boyhood of America as constituted in the boy scouts has rendered an extraordinary and wonderful service to the country in connection with the Liberty loan and War and Thrift Stamps campaigns. In the fourth Liberty loan campaign I am told that the boy scouts secured subscriptions for $92,000,000 representing 700,000 subscribers, and that in the War and Thrift Stamps campaign they have sold approximately $42,330,000 to 2,156,000 individuals. This is an inspiring achievement, and the Boy Scouts of America have vindicated by their initiative, patriotism, energy and courage the highest conceptions of Junior American citizenship. Give the valiant troops of the boy scout organization my warm congratulations and best wishes. I am proud of these boys, and the country is proud of them. There is still vital work to be done for the country, and I look to the boy scouts to do their part with the same valor and patriotism they have exhibited in previous campaigns."

EXPLORER ANTHONY FIALA.

Noted arctic circle traveler is now commissioner of boy scouts at Springfield, Mass.

PRINCIPLE OF SCOUTING.

Scouting is becoming an important factor in the successful raising of boys to manhood. The scout movement develops the sense of duty in the youngster that enables him to probe within himself for the manly characteristics. It's a man-size job to be done in a man's way, and W. A. Perry, the editor of Scouting, offers a few lines on that subject:

"I am not interested in scouting in a high-priced school amid landscape gardening, and statuary, and drinking fountain—all made by somebody else—I am interested in a forest far from civilization, where I must either conquer nature—or confess myself a weakling. It is a fine thing to teach boys to stand in line with spotless uniforms and win the applause of a crowd gathered to witness a dress parade. But I would rather develop a boy, so that he could walk alone into a world of wickedness, conscious of the great laws back of it all, with a spirit which would make him forget self and fight for the right."

SCOUT ASLEEP KEPT SECRET.

"But, mamma, what did I say? What did I say?" There was anxiety in the boy scout's tones.

The little fellow had joined the tenderfoot class of the boy scouts the night before, and had been cautioned not to reveal the password of the rank, to not even mention it "in his sleep."

Next morning his mother asked him what made him so nervous during his sleep, telling him he had talked all night long, according to the story reaching J. E. Pershing, scout executive of Oklahoma City, a cousin of General Pershing.

When assured that the secret word was still sacredly kept, he breathed a long sigh and the look of relief that swept his face was like a burst of sunshine after a storm.

BOY SCOUT DOINGS.

A boy scout firemanhood examination was held in Spokane, Wash., and the 15 scouts who took the examination passed.

As their "good turn" Troop No. 15 of Toledo, O., scraped the church fire-scope with wire brushes so it could be repainted.

When a Vineland, N. J., milk dealer offered the boy scouts a prize to find his 1,500 missing bottles, one scout found 80 in one back yard. Eighteen scouts located 1,087 bottles.

A certain county of Connecticut boasts of its record of having had but two murders in nearly one hundred years.

WOMEN CAN SEND WASHING TO THE LAUNDRY SAFELY

Clearfield laundrymen, in common with their neighbors in other cities throughout the United States, have launched a movement for the emancipation of housewives from the family wash-tub. The wash-tub has been branded by them a "relic of the dark ages of housekeeping."

A feature of the enterprise will be a campaign of education to wean womenfolk away from old prejudices against the laundry, and to acquaint them at the same time with the notable progress that has been made by the industry within the last decade.

"The enterprise is not intended to be a revolutionary undertaking," stated a nationally known laundry leader, "it is simply the coming to pass of something that has been long expected. It is a part, really, of what may be termed the 'feminist' advance of the age."

"We no longer look upon women as mere menials. Our new conception of them is as helpmates and companions, with equal social and civic privileges. Women are barred from quick realization of this finer future, however, by such unnecessary duties as the family wash, that alone take up from one and one-half to two days of the week."

"The laundry industry, from one end of America to the other, is offering to take over this burden just as the spinner and weaver long ago took over the business of making clothes; in fact as a hundred items of household drudgery have been taken over by industry."

"We propose to indicate to the women of America the progress that has been made by the laundry industry; we will show them, for example, that while in its rudimentary the home-washing process has changed but little since the time of Noah, the laundry has improved until it has become not alone a cleanser of clothes, but a conservator of them also."

"Once the American housewife discovers that it is safe and economical to send the family wash to the laundry, the most burdensome of household tasks will be abolished from the home forever."

"A freer womanhood—a cleaner America—these are the motives behind the movement for educating women to use of the modern laundry for their family washing."

SUPERVISOR OF CENSUS

Frank E. Costello, of Bradford, has been named as Supervisor of the Census for District No. 15 of Pennsylvania, according to the list published in the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times of Saturday last.

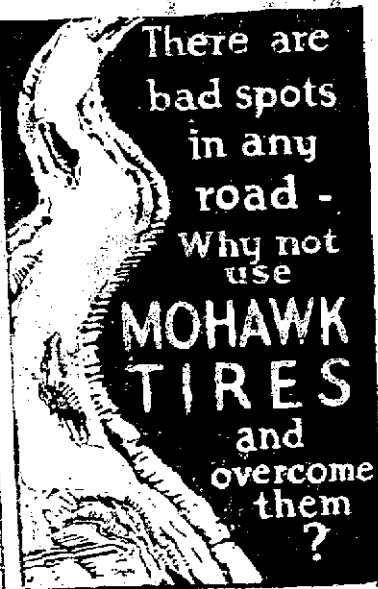

Clearfield county is a part of District No. 15 and Clearfield had at least three applicants for this plum, which will pay about $1700 for nine months work.

Costello is Secretary of the Democratic county committee of McKean county and had the endorsement of the Democratic state and county organizations in the district.

When Occasion Calls for Afternoon Gowns

To be correctly and smartly gowned, that is the "consummation devoutly to be wished," when occasion calls for afternoon clothes. In these gowns most young women may be beautiful, and older ones brilliant and stunning; they offer the best of opportunities and a test of ability to take advantage of them. With the fabrics at hand this season, designers have done most unusual things. It is to their credit that they have taken the figured and plain georgettes, satins, crepes de chine and organizes and made innumerable beautiful combinations of them, resulting in a variety that has added new interest to each week since summer dawned. These materials are everywhere. It is the art of the dressmaker that turns them out in unexpected ways and transforms them into unusual gowns.

In the picture above georgette and satin are the very usual fabrics that have been converted into two brilliant afternoon frocks. The frock at the left is suited to matronly wearers, with its striking contrasts and general richness of appearance. It owes this to the character of the pattern in the printed georgette as much as to the materials that make it, which are not extravagant in price. The skirt and under-bodice are of black satin, the sleeves of black georgette. A bodice and tulle of printed georgette are posed over this satin foundation and a long, full, pointed flounce of it finishes the sleeves. The tulle is cut away over the hips and another agreeable surprise greets us in a narrow border of plain georgette at the bottom of the skirt. There is a girlish of very wide satin ribbon with a single loop and short end at the back, to finish a gown that has distinction and dignity.

Distinction belongs also to the gown of printed georgette for a younger woman, shown at the right. Perhaps the suggestion of Japan in its printed figures accounts for the wide kimono sleeve. But the influence of this Japan ends here. The full skirt is gathered in about the ankles, and the real waistline lies easily about the real waistline. It is a graceful gown, presenting unexpected and very pleasing features in the gathered-in-hem and oriental sleeve. One can imagine it in peach or lavender or other pretty shades, any of them set off by the wide black band that is in the same class with it.

FRIENDSHIP BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA
IS BOUND INSEPARABLY BY TIES OF BLOODType of Farm
Americans make in
Western CanadaLord Shoughnessy,
An American who found success in Canada

American Soldiers marching through Calgary

The closeness of social and commercial relations between Canada and the United States is indicated by the ever-increasing number of Americans who are seeking homes in the great farming districts of the prairie provinces of the Dominion.

In the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba alone there are 580,212 Americans. This is more than the total population of Alberta, which is 579,000. In Alberta nearly half the population, 275,000 to be exact, are of American birth. The British-born residents being about a third of this number. In Saskatchewan there are 226,350

Americans, and in Manitoba 78,789. Last year about 10,000 Americans came to Alberta, which was the lowest number in thirteen years, except in 1915, when the number was 6,261. With the war over, it is expected that the influx will resume its former proportions, which averaged about 25,000 a year, the top figure being reached in 1909, when a record of 34,583 was established.

The number of resident immigrants other than British or American born is about 40,000 and practically no more are coming over. Americans like the Canadian West. They find in it the same aggressive, enterprising spirit which characterizes the United States. They find democratic laws and institutions, fair play, reform movements of the best type and innumerable opportunities for bettering their material circumstances. Then, the fact that there are many Americans already in Canada brings more, for they are especially gregarious when their own people are concerned.

Canadians and Americans stood shoulder to shoulder in war and mingled their best blood on Flanders fields. Now, in peace, they still stand shoulder to shoulder and mingle their blood in ties of kinship.

"Y" TAKES THIRD STRAIGHT GAME

The "Y" team kind of blasted the pennant hopes of the Brick Yard when they trimmed them to the tune of 7 to 6. The game was exciting from start to finish but it was the "Y" game all the way through as the brick slammers did not once forge ahead.

The "Y" got two runs in the first, four in the second and one in the seventh. The brick yarders got one in the second, one in the third, one in the sixth and three in the seventh.

If Back Hurts
Begin On Salts

Flush your kidneys occasionally if you eat meat regularly.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys. Occasionally, says a well known authority, meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful cervicent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

BASEBALL AS SHE IS WRIT IN LONDON

(By United Press.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The staid old London Times, for the first time in its 131 years, has printed a box score. Not only that, but it describes the game in baseball slang that would bring a blush to the cheek of an American writer. A copy of the Times, received here today, contains the following:

"In a closely contested game of baseball at Oxford, between Oxford and Cambridge—teams composed of the most part of former American college men attending the two universities—Oxford won 6 to 4.

"The pastime was featured by the heavy stick-work of Wallace, former Harvard star, who slammed out a three-bagger and a homer in three tries with the willow. For the first three frames both teams hung tough and allowed no scoring. The fourth inning netted a brace for the home lads. Ives clouted one to center and Richards let the sphere slip. Eagle watched four bad ones go by, and after Ives was tagged trying to steal home, was pushed over for the first tally when Williams leaned against one for two sacks. Shaweney went bad here and gave Storey a free ticket, and Wallace came through with a three-station bingle that shoved Williams and Storey across. Brown ended the agony by missing three.

"In the sixth, Cambridge made an effort to close the gap when Shaweney kissed the leather for a bingle. Richards picked a double and Myers followed up with a safe swat which brought the count within one. It looked good for another after Myers swiped the second stop, but Thragate and Hart both carved the breeze. Oxford wasn't going to let them feel too good about it, though, so they slipped up a few more to convince the crowd it wasn't visitors' day. Eagle went to first on Myers' error, Gammell took a stroll, and both were forced at the third corner by Williams and Storey. Wallace stepped into a nice one for the washout drive and was well over the platter before the ball was played in. Shaweney was here yanked to give Clark a chance to use his slams, and after singling through, second, Brown was nabbed off the first pillow.

"Cambridge came back strong in the eighth when Shaweney singled, Richards was given a life, and both scored with the help of a two-timer from Myers and a nifty sacrifice by Thragate, but the combined efforts of Hart and Beal could not push the anxious Myers over."

The line-ups were:

Oxford—Ives, c; Eagle, l. f.; Gammell, 2b.; Williams, s.s.; Storey, 3b.; Wallace, 1b.; Brown, c.f.; Conquist, r. f.; Thomas, p.

Cambridge—Richards, c.f.; Myers, 2b.; Thragate, r.f.; Hart, c.; Beal, 3b.; Gamoway, 1b.; Kreke, s.s.; Copland, l.f.; Shaweney, p.-l.f.; Clarke, p.

SENATOR REED WANTS
U. S. TO GIVE HEED
TO ITS OWN WANTS

WASHINGTON, August 5.—Various solutions of the problem of the high cost of living were offered in the course of a warm debate on the question in the Senate.

Among the remedies proposed was abandonment of government price fixing and of the government's policy of draining this country to feed Europe.

The Senator also suggested that if all the soldiers were brought back from Europe and put into labor there would be a tendency to balance industry.

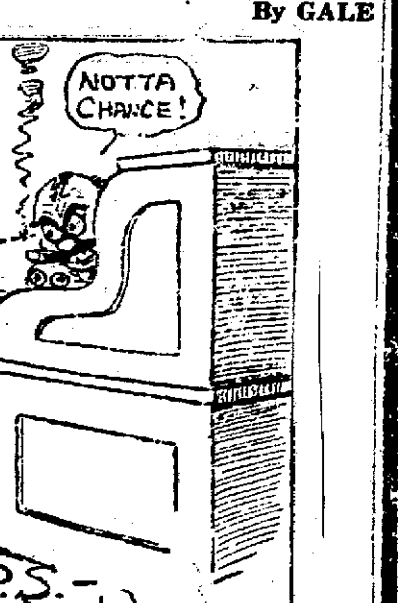

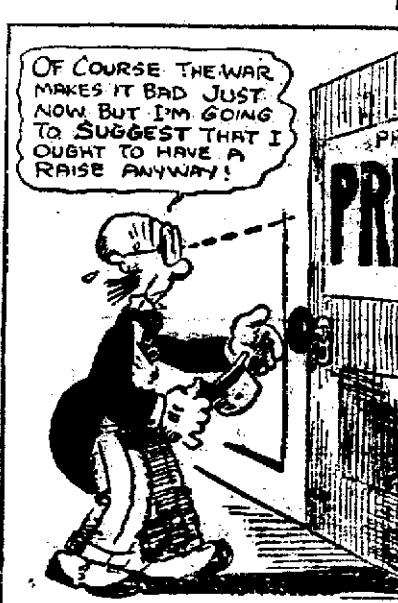

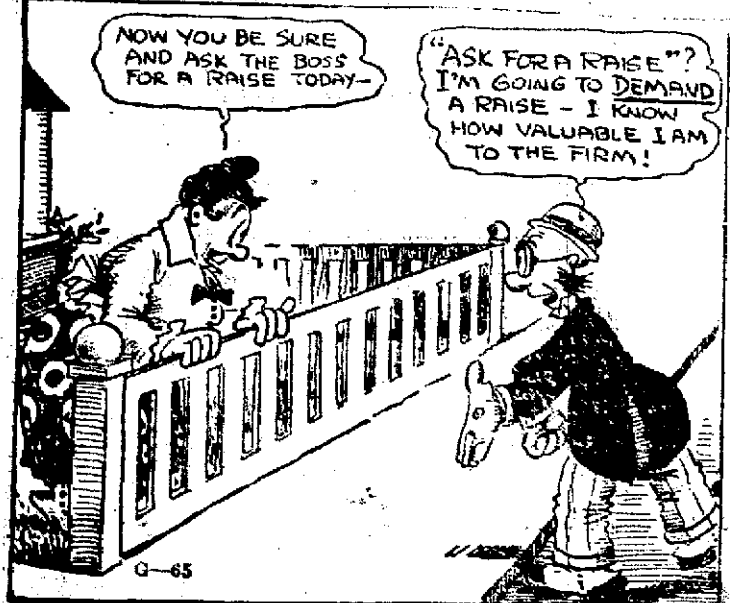

A pertinent suggestion in Senator Reed's speech was this:

"I am of the opinion that we had better be looking after the grave problems that concern the bread and butter, the fuel and the housing of our own country than be undertaking to look after the physical, spiritual and financial welfare of the gentlemen of Timbuctoo and other remote parts of the world."

If we cannot feed ourselves we ought not to be undertaking to feed the world. If we cannot keep prices here within the ability of our purses we ought not to be spending our money and giving food to people who are 2,000 miles from our shores and who brought misfortune upon themselves."

JORDAN'S

ALL

The stunts pulled off by the Junior Chautauqua under the big tent yesterday afternoon furnished real pleasure to a large audience. The local Junior Chautauquans were the attraction and their work was classy in the extreme. "Major" Andy Waterworth was the particular star of the afternoon and charmed everybody by the professional manner in which he tossed off difficult feat after feat. Andy was as loose as ashes and twice as dusty and was used as the king pin of many thrilling stunts. As the "point" of the pyramid Andy developed for the instant a mild case of cold feet, but his sand pulled him through, he went to the top, took the leap and came up smiling amid the applause which greeted the finish.

Every participant deserves very favorable mention for the good work accomplished.

SOME RATTLE SNAKES

Alex Wallace was in from his fishing and herding camp on the headwaters of Trout Run Saturday last with the skins and rattles of nine big rattlers which he and three companions had slaughtered during the past week.

The biggest one in the bunch measured four feet in length and sported an even dozen of rattles. Alex said he played one bar of "Watch on the Rhine" on his bells before they got a crack at him.

Attorney A. R. Chase spent the past ten days at Goshen camp and during his rustling about the berry bushes on the club house farm he ran across a black rattler four and one-half feet in length with nine rattles and a button.

He slew the reptile and Harry Hummelbaugh, who was at the camp skinned and dressed the monster and fried four ounces of oil out of him. Chase is making a hair restorer with the snake oil as a base and says it promises great results.

Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Callahan, William Hagerty and daughter Jane and Mrs. Chester Hellar motored to Frenchville Sunday and spent the day with friends.

BUSY DAY IN STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—A slump which carried stocks to the lowest levels in days of trading hit the market this morning and prices went down to alarming levels. After the fall in prices, trading was resumed in large quantity and prices recovered and in many instances made large gains over the closing figures yesterday. U. S. Steel after selling below 105 went up to 105 while Crucible quickly jumped to 150 after being low at 125. All steels were affected in the slump and all climbed on the reaction. Other stocks responded accordingly.

NOTICE

On account of the high cost of living the barbers of Clearfield have found it necessary to raise the price of hair cutting from 35c to 50c and shaving from 15c to 20c. All other prices to remain the same. We find that it is impossible to keep barbers at the business, as they can earn more money in less hours at other work; consequently we are continually looking for barbers. We feel that we are perfectly justified in making this increase in prices.

The new prices will go into effect Monday morning, August 11th, 1919. Hours will remain the same. All shops closed on Sunday. A5-5tc CLEARFIELD BARBERS.

EYE TALK NO 3.

TAKING CHANCES

With old glasses, other people's glasses, 10-cent store glasses, mail order glasses or not glasses is a risk that cannot be ignored.

One may take change on the fit of a shoe and lose money only. But when you trust your eyes to cheap and imperfect lenses or trust to some traveling eye doctor or peddler it may cost you both your eyes and your money. Eyestrain results from abuse or abnormal use of the muscles. You can have perfect vision and at the same time suffer from eyestrain and headaches. Maybe you need glasses for vision, maybe you need them for eyestrain and not vision. In either case I can help you. You can't buy spectacles from me unless needed. If you need them my specialized and scientific service is at your command.
